AUTOS PROVING PREY OF PETTY LOCAL THIEVES

A revival of the two-year-old epidemic of petty stealing from automobiles seems to have again appeared here, and so far the police have not accomplished anything toward bringing it to a stop in the way of arrests.

Arch Brown, representing the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, in which a large number of local cars are insured against fire and theft, has made new complaints to the police. He has stated that the car owned by Thomas J. King of the California Feed Company was approached by thieves while it stood in front of his residence Wednesday night. Mistaking an old tire for a new one, the miscreants took it, only later on discovering its worthlessness to throw it aside.

Another complaint he made concerned the car of C. M. Cooke, which was in Mr. Cooke's home garage two nights ago when thieves attempted to wrench a new tire from it. Due to the fact that the tire was locked to the machine, the efforts of the miscreants were unsuccessful; but they took away the Japanese yardboy's bicycle by way of consolation.

It is estimated that $15,000 worth of automobile equipment, mostly tires, was stolen from local machines in a couple of months two years ago. The thefts were at last brought to a stop when the police rounded up a lot of petty thieves.

Owners of machines are cautioned to keep extra tires locked to the cars.

Asking judgment for $171.84, Dr. J. Chris O'Day, formerly of Honolulu and now of Portland, has filed suit in the local circuit court through F. Schneck, his attorney, against Lily N. Heen for medical and surgical services alleged to have been performed for her at Portland. This, he asserts, is the balance on an original total debt of $1065.

GAMBLERS GIVEN MORE TIME TO ENTER A PLEA

Ninety-three Chinese who figured conspicuously in the raid made upon two large clubhouses by Deputy Sheriff Charles Rose, Acting Captain of Detectives Kellett, and a force of plain clothes and uniformed officers, on last Sunday, have been given more time to face trial upon a charge of gambling, before the District court.

At the request of Attorney Straus, who announced that Attorney Rawlins would assist in the defense of the Oriental, Judge Monsarrat with the consent of Prosecuting Attorney Brown this morning granted a continuance of the matter until next Tuesday. The matter is then said will have the right of way over other cases that may confront the lower court at that time.

District Magistrate Monsarrat, however, warned the attorneys that he would not favor a further postponement of the trial of the Chinese.

BETTER RECORD IS MADE THAN WAS AT FIRST REPORTED

Even better shooting was done by the Fort Ruger mortars Wednesday night than was at first reported, although the announced record of 16 hits out of 20 shots in the darkness was believed to be a world's record.

Careful calculations and comparisons of splash observations taken by officers in the range station and on the towing vessel, have determined that 17 hits were made, and that another shot was so near the 50 yard radius of the pyramidal target that practically 18 hits can be credited to the battery.

BAND PLAYING ELSEWHERE AND MAYOR LUAUS

While Mayor J. J. Fern was leaving it at his home yesterday evening, in celebration of his forty-first birthday, and consequently forgetful of the cares of government and the problems of the Hawaiian band—whether it should play at hotels or not—Kapellmeister Berggr and his musicians were giving a concert at the Pleasanton Hotel.

The concert was a distinct success, almost as much so as his Honor's luau. The new electric effects on the grounds were displayed. Tennis and swimming parties were given during the concert. This may be the last hotel concert heard here, for the mayor has stated that when the band returns from its month's vacation, to begin the first of October, hotel concerts will be no more.

BANANAS IN CANS MAY BE NEW INDUSTRY

the fruit at the place of production at any central point, and placing the dry fruit in suitable glass jar or tin containers, placed in boxes, the charges would be low. The prepared fruit does not spoil, and it will keep in good condition for years. A bunch of bananas weighing 150 pounds will, after the fruit has dried, leave about ten pounds of dried fruit. The saving in freight pays the cost of labor and packing, and the fruit may be shipped to any point in the world in any container.

"By this process of preservation, the banana may be left in the field until the same begins to ripen, thereby gaining the full value to flavor as well as the food value. By this drying process, I take the fruit in its best condition, remove the peel, place the clean fruit on a screen in a drying oven, which process evaporates about two-thirds of the weight from the ripe fruit, that is, water, which may be added again by the consumer, as the dried fruit will swell up again when placed in water, if the natural size of the fruit is desired. These prepared bananas may be taken from the sealed packages and exposed to the air in a place free from vermin, and the fruit will keep in good condition."

Following the reading of the foregoing letter, the committee decided to place the matter in the hands of Dr. E. V. Wilcox for his opinion. The process is considered a good one by the committee.

Morning on CHANGE

Mutual Telephone and Hilo Com. were the two stock sold today between the boards and in the session. Mutual Telephone fell off an eighth of a point. Fifty shares of it, divided in two sales, went at 13.87½; while Hilo Com. in a sale of 100 shares between boards, stayed at 3.50.

The market remains sluggish, with no marked changes in stock prices. In one or two cases a slight fractional increase in the price asked for sugar stocks is noted, but no sales were made.

TOM GUNN HAS NEW AIR CRAFT ABOUT COMPLETE

The body of the first passenger-carrying hydroaeroplane to be constructed in the Hawaiian Islands was completed this morning by Tom Gunn, the noted Chinese aviator, who recently made several successful flights at Lihou, and his assistants, and will be removed to Pearl Harbor this afternoon, where the engines and planes will be installed. Tom has been working for the past several weeks on his new machine, which at present looks more like the hull of a motorboat than an airship, and expects to have everything in readiness for a trial flight next Wednesday.

The new hydroaeroplane, which may better be termed a flying-boat, will be the first to navigate Honolulu harbor. It is built after Tom's own plans, but similar to those machines which Curtis sells complete for $8000. It is equipped to carry the pilot and one passenger, and will maintain a speed of 45 miles an hour when traveling on the surface of the water. At the will of the driver, the machine leaves the water and ascends into the air to any height. Tom constructed a similar machine while on the mainland which he found to have a number of defects, and his new machine, built in Honolulu, has been constructed so that all these defects are eliminated. The body of the "boat" is 29 feet over all, and will be equipped with two huge wings, each reaching out 40 feet. The driver sits well to the front with ample space to handle his machine, while directly back of him is the engine, which drives the propeller by a chain transmission. When complete with equipment, engine, fuel for four days, the pilot and one passenger, the machine is estimated to weigh 1550 pounds.

Gunn said this morning that his completed machine would be equipped with such accessories as a height indicator, compass, barometer, speed indicator, self-starter for the motor, and, last, a complete wireless outfit, the keyboard of which is located on a small shelf directly in front of the operator. The body of the machine is equipped with eight air-tight compartments, and in case anything goes wrong, two of these would be sufficient to sustain the machine in the water. Tom's machine is entirely different from any other machine of a similar type, and his first long trip, he says, will be to the island of Maui. Tom's first passenger will be Mrs. Mike Newman, wife of the local theatrical man, who will be the first passenger to be carried over the Pacific ocean in a machine of this type.

HOWARD RECITAL REVEALS ARTIST OF RARE WORTH

Honolulu music-lovers will greatly regret it if the concert by Mrs. Elsa Cross Howard last night proves to be her last local appearance.

Mrs. Howard is to leave Honolulu soon; it is understood, but certainly her host of admirers here hope her absence will not be permanent. She is a pianist of rare ability, combining exquisite technique with the rhapsodical temperament, a combination of irrefragable effect. Those who heard her last night for the first time wondered why Honolulu has not seen more of this talented musician; those who had heard her in her rather infrequent local appearances found their earlier appreciation of her confirmed and reassured.

Close to two hundred of Honolulu social and musical leaders were present at the recital last evening. The fact that Mrs. C. B. Cooper and Reynolds McGrew were to sing heightened the pleasure of the occasion. Both of them added signally to the generous triumph of the evening.

Mrs. Howard offered the audience a varied program. She interprets Bach, Beethoven, Liszt and Chopin with equal fidelity to the spirit and yet individual grace and excellence.

Apart from the wide range of technical excellence and thorough musicianship she showed, a feature of the evening was Mrs. Howard's singing of a song written by herself and dedicated to Queen Liliuokalani. It breathed true admiration for Hawaii's queen.

The program was as follows:

Gigue..... Corelli
Bach..... Bach
Prelude and Fugue..... Bach
Duet—From the Pagoda Flowers
Allah Be With Us.....
..... A. Woodford-Finden
Mrs. Charles B. Cooper.
Mr. Reynolds McGrew
Sonata Op. 27 No. 2..... Beethoven

Mrs. Emma Nakuina Has Plan for Aid of Tourists to Territory

Mrs. Emma Nakuina, one of the best educated and most widely known Hawaiian women in the islands, laid before the members of the Promotion Committee this morning plans for the establishment of a complete guide bureau or service for the accommodation of visiting tourists. She explained that, in her opinion, hasty round-the-island tours are inadequate, and that parties of tourists, supplied with competent guides to point out and explain all points of interest along the route would receive more for their money than by being whisked around the island in a few hours and receiving no explanation of what they see.

According to her plans, Mrs. Nakuina would be employed by the Promotion Committee at a monthly salary, and she would select and train the guides. Women guides would be her choice, she said, as competent men for such positions would be employed elsewhere. These guides would be taken over the selected route, which would be over the Pali and return via Haleiwa, and personally tutored by Mrs. Nakuina as to the places of interest which are in evidence everywhere. In presenting her plans to the committee, Mrs. Nakuina pointed out places of interest which are little heard of or more less visited. For instance, the top of Emma street is an old battleground, said to be the place where Kamehameha and the king of Oahu fought during the conquest of the former chieftain. She mentioned other places, especially old heiaus and the old water mains, now in ruins, in which the first water was brought down from Nuuanu to supply Honolulu, which was then a treeless plain. Such a trip, she said, considering the time required for visiting the interesting places relating to old Hawaiian history, would take at least two days, the night being spent at Hauula. If the Promotion Committee favored the plan, Mrs. Nakuina expressed a willingness to take complete charge, and to establish her headquarters at the offices of the committee, where she would work in cooperation with an assistant. She asked for a salary and a commission on the guide service, and also for a salary for an assistant.

Mrs. Nakuina's plans were discussed to some extent by the members of the committee, the result being that, while the committee sees the value of such an undertaking, it feels that it cannot undertake it at this time owing to financial stress. The committee believes, however, that such a proposition could be well handled by some private concern or parties, and such an undertaking would have the sincere support of the committee.

L. J. Warren, recently appointed by the Promotion Committee as chairman of the finance committee of the 1914 Floral Parade and Mid-Winter Carnival, addressed a letter to the committee in which he named T. M. Church, R. A. Cooke, E. H. Paris, James L. McLean and S. M. Lowrey as the other members of the body. These appointments met with the general approval of the committee.

The secretary reported that at a recent date the New York Sun printed an illustrated story on the Hawaiian Islands written by W. R. Castle, Jr. Another which the Sun recently published was entitled "Japanese to Search the World for Colonizing Places," the author of which is Captain T. Takeda, member of the Japanese Exploration Society.

Albert Waterhouse presented a unique plan before the committee which was to the effect that the old Hawaiian heiau at Kalia, which is in a state of remarkable preservation, should be preserved through the efforts of the Promotion Committee, as it would form an interesting place for tourists to visit. George R. Carter is also interested in the matter, and the committee decided to place the matter in his hands. It is believed that a sum of money can easily be secured to place the old temple in good condition.

The matter of "rubberneck" wagons for Honolulu was taken up by Ed Towse, who said that, inasmuch as several local parties had tried this out on a small scale and had failed, he believed there was a good local opening in this business. The wagons, he said, could be secured in San Francisco.

PROMINENT SOCIALIST COMING HERE TO SPEAK

Coming here under the auspices of Honolulu Socialists to deliver a series of lectures, Howard H. Caldwell, a well-known speaker of the Coast, will arrive on the Sonoma Monday. Caldwell is a resident of Oakland and has lectured all over the country. Both hall and street meetings will be held during his visit here at which he will be the principal speaker. The Socialists are preparing to build up a party organization in Hawaii, according to local representatives.

Some things come to pass that ought to go the other way.

THE CLARION

ARMY AND NAVY

A model of the new battleship New York has been placed on exhibition in the office of Secretary Daniels. It replaces the model of the slightly older battleship Arkansas, which has been placed in the corridor on the first floor of the navy department.

The New York and the Texas, which the new model represents in miniature are the first vessels of the United States Navy to be equipped with fourteen inch guns, which marked a distinct military advance over previous vessels carrying twelve-inch guns. These two vessels are of 32,500 tons displacement, each being larger by 1,500 than any of their predecessors. They mark a distinct advance in battleship construction over previous classes, not only in respect to the size of the guns, but also in regard to the efficiency of the armor protection, watertight subdivision and underwater protection and other important military features. They will develop a speed of twenty-one knots per hour, and will have a very large cruising radius, as they are fitted with reciprocating engines for the purpose of developing the maximum economy in fuel consumption under cruising conditions.

The U. S. S. Texas is nearing completion at Newport News, Va. The official trip of the vessel will probably take place within the next few months, and the vessel will probably be delivered to the government for commissioning prior to the beginning of the new year. The U. S. S. New York, the construction of which was begun about six months later than the Texas, will be completed and ready for service about May 1.

Senator George E. Chamberlain of Oregon, chairman of the committee on military affairs, is strongly in favor of putting the United States in a state of preparedness for any possible military emergency. In an interview given out last night Senator Chamberlain said:

"As long as we maintain the Monroe doctrine, retain the Philippines, control the Panama canal and dominate the Pacific, which is our manifest destiny, we must have an army adequate to care for these conditions and meet emergencies, which can be augmented by trained men from a reserve and supplemented by the national guard of the states.

"We ought not to leave ourselves in an attitude where we fear the possibility of invasion by Japan on the Pacific coast or by any other foreign country on our Atlantic coast, nor in apprehension as to what might happen to our troops in case of intervention in Mexico because the army is inadequate for emergencies.

"If there should not be a peaceful termination of the Mexican trouble," Senator Chamberlain continued, "temporary war measures and makeshifts would have to be adopted, as has been the case at the beginning of every other war in this country, all of which have been disastrous and expensive. At the regular session of congress the subject of increasing military efficiency must be considered. Secretary of War Garrison has taken a pronounced position on the subject, and we will avail his definite recommendations with a great deal of interest.

"In my opinion, the national guard should be very much strengthened and improved. A great many more regular army officers should be detailed to give the officers instruction and secure better drill and discipline for the men, so that a larger percentage

EXAMINATIONS FOR FIRE AND POLICE FORCES

The first examination of applicants for jobs on the fire and police forces to be given under the direction of the civil service commission will be held in the third week of October. Chairman Wirtz of the commission stated this morning that the tests will be given at that time.

"The examiner has been decided upon, but his name is not given out for the reason that we feel it best not to have him bothered."

"The questions for the tests will be made up by the examiner and approved by the commission."

of trained men could go to the front in time of need. The formation of a reserve corps is a very difficult matter. We cannot pattern on the lines of continental countries which have a conscription method of filling the ranks of the armies and control all available men for military service. At all events, it seems certain that the country is becoming aware of the unprepared condition of our army and will sustain congress in making such changes as seem necessary to place the army upon a footing to meet emergencies and secure the honor and integrity of the nation."
